

Word Study for --- TITLES

Job 32:21 Let me not, I pray you, accept any man's person, neither let me give flattering titles unto man.

A close-up photograph of a yellow rose, showing the intricate layers of its petals. The rose is the central focus, with its vibrant yellow color contrasting against a dark, blurred background. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the rose, in a white, serif font.

A close-up photograph of a cluster of vibrant pink flowers, likely geraniums, with green leaves visible in the background. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the image.

Job 32:22 For I know not to give flattering titles; in so doing my maker would soon take me away.
